Cyclus is looking for collaborators to identify parts of the fuel cycle that are vulnerable to diversion, inform detector design and deployment, and support verification of fissile material cutoff and other future treaties.

Abstract

Cyclus is looking for partners for collaboration across CVT thrust areas to inform treaty development:

- Synthetic spectra
- Integrated multi-modal synthetic datasets featuring illicit activities
- Geospatial mapping of airborne effluent

How can your research benefit from the features of Cyclus?